

PENILESS REFUGEES.

Situation at Canea Is Becoming More Serious.

PROPOSITION OF THE SULTAN

Desiring to Preserve Peace on the Island He Proposes to Withdraw the Turkish Garrison on Certain Conditions.

London, March 18. — The secretary of the Byron society has received a telegram from Athens stating that the sultan, desiring to preserve peace, has offered to withdraw the Turkish garrison from Crete and to assign the island to King George to be occupied and administered by Greece, with a recognition of the imperial suzerainty of the sultan.

Will Bombard the Village.

Situa, Crete, March 18. — In consequence of an attack made by Cretan Christians upon a number of foreign officers, the commanders of the British, French and Italian warships have notified insurgents of their intention to bombard the village, not far from Sitia, where the attack was made.

Peniless Refugees.

Canea, Crete, March 18. — The situation at Canea is daily becoming more serious owing to the influx of 10,000 peniless refugees. The local government is unable to supply each with a couple of pounds of bread daily, but even this can not continue.

A Formal Proclamation.

Canea, Crete, March 18. — The admiral of the combined fleets in Cretan waters made a formal proclamation of the intention of the great powers to counter upon the island an autonomous government, subject to the suzerainty of the sultan.

Never Intended to Resign.

Frankfort, Ky., March 18. — It is now believed that any intimation of a confession by Jackson has reached the governor's office, if any confession has been made, and it is further doubted now whether any would have any effect on the executive. He was reminded of false stories sent out last week that he had resigned Walling, and the further general belief that he at one time really intended to do so. In answer to this he said: "I never at any time had any idea of resigning Walling for four days, or five days, or for any other time."

Admirals Receive Instructions.

Island of Crete, March 18. — The French admiral received instructions identical with those of his colleagues. These instructions allow the admiral a certain amount of liberty of action and initiative. All the governments have informed their admirals that they are sending the admiral asked for as reinforcements to take the place of the marines ashore, thus enabling admiral to disembark the marines and use their ships for the blockade of the Greek ports, which is expected to follow the arrival of the troops in Crete.

New Incorporations.

Columbus, O., March 18. — The Gallipoli Mining company, Gallipoli, capital stock $200,000. The Fair Clinton opera house company, Fair Clinton, capital stock $10,000. The Walter Cook company, Phoenix, capital stock $50,000. The Millersville Oil and Gas company, Millersville, capital stock $50,000. The Citizens Mutual Aid Association, Cincinnati, the Baltimore and Ohio Coal company, Cincinnati, capital stock $50,000. The Standard Rope and Twine company, Elizabeth, N. J., capital stock $12,000,000. Capital stock invested in Ohio $2,000,000. Agent, Frank E. Brady, Cincinnati.

Titus Reinstated.

Baltimore, March 18. — Chairman Mott of the League of American Wheelmen racing board, gave out a notice to Fred J. Titus, who with Carbine and Murphy, has been under suspension for throwing a race in St. Louis, reinstating him to the amateur rank after March 15, 97.

Woodell's Conference.

Indianapolis, March 18. — Chief deputy John Woodell placed in the hands of Governor Mount an affidavit bearing his superior officer, State Auditor Simon Thompson, with a check for $100,000. Mr. Thompson was escorted by the governor and his employed attorneys to look after his interests.

EXPEDITIONS TO CUBA.

President and Advisers Consider the Subject.

VISITORS AT WHITE HOUSE.

Many Congressional Delegations Call to Urge Appointment of Some Favorite Son — Ex-President Harrison Before Supreme Court.

Washington, March 18. — The president and a number of his advisers had quite a prolonged conference on the subject of Cuban filibustering expeditions and finally reached a conclusion that after the present, at least, clearance papers should be refused suspected filibustering vessels until their owners cleared themselves by affidavit or otherwise of the suspicion attaching to them.

The attorney general was asked specifically for an opinion whether clearance papers could be granted to the tug Dauntless. Mr. McKenna with the information at hand did not deem it advisable to pass on the subject. He concluded to obtain additional facts and circumstances bearing on the history of the vessel, and it is supposed has communicated with the government officials in Florida for the purpose of getting all the data obtainable. A decision in the case is awaited by the treasury officials with a great deal of interest, as giving an indication of the prospective policy of the administration in regard to Cuban matters. Meanwhile, there is evidence that in one respect at least the treasury officials are keeping up the sharp lookout begun by the former administration to intercept filibusters. Information recently reached the department that suspicious circumstances indicated the probability of the Three Friends making preparations for another filibustering expedition. The vessel is now at Key West, so word was sent to the commander of the revenue cutter Forward at Tampa to proceed to Key West and keep a sharp lookout for the alleged filibuster.

WHITE HOUSE VISITORS.

Increased Number of Congressional Callers—Ex-President Harrison Received.

Washington, March 18. — The adjournment of both houses of congress over had the effect of increasing the number of congressional callers at the White House. In some cases the statesmen came in almost solid state delegations. Iowa, for instance, which has been in the advance line for several days past, was represented by Senators Allison and Gear, most of the representatives and ex-representative Congressmen who have been formerly United States senators to Brazil, is understood to have secured the backing of his fellow statesmen in his application for either that place or the Colombian mission. Both of the Michigan senators were among the president's callers, and also Senators Spooner of Wisconsin and Nelson of Minnesota, and many other western men.

Although the rules as to admission are now being uniformly enforced at the White House, an exception was made very promptly in favor of ex-President Harrison, who called while the cabinet was in special session. He was welcomed by the president, but seeing that business of importance was under consideration, he made his visit short. He left Washington for his home in Indianapolis.

The rush of callers went on all the afternoon and was perhaps the busiest the president has had. Representative Grosvenor and three of his fellow members called to urge the appointment of Burt Dandap of Ohio as governor of Arizona.

A Pennsylvania delegation headed by Senator Penrose and Representative Dalzell brought out Colonel Thomas of Cumberland county as good material for a public printer.

Representative Gibson of Tennessee backed James R. Rule, his clerk, as consul to Calcutta.

Ex-Governor Pacheco of California came with several members of his state delegation to seek appointment as consul general to Mexico, and a crowd of North Carolinians busied themselves with learning what could be done toward securing prompt action in filling the vacancy in the marshalship of the western North Carolina district, soon to occur through expiration of the term of appointment.

Representative Curtis of Kansas presented the name of Thomas Ryan of that state for assistant secretary of the interior, a place for which ex-representative Pickler of South Dakota is striving.

A GOOD AUDIENCE.

Ex-President Harrison Argues a Case Before the Supreme Court.

Washington, March 18. — Ex-President Harrison appeared as counsel in the supreme court of the United States in the case of the City Railway company of Indianapolis against the Citizens' Railroad company of the same city. The case involves the possession of the Indianapolis streets for street car purposes, the Citizens' company being the older concern. General Harrison appeared for the latter company, contending for the perpetuity of its franchise, and arguing that the state could not delegate its franchise granting power to the Indianapolis city council. The entire seating capacity of the courtroom was occupied by persons anxious to hear the ex-president speak. Ex-Secretary Tracy and ex-Attorney General Miller two members of the Harrison cabinet being among the auditors.

Against Dodge.

Washington, March 18. — Commissioner of Patents Seymour has rendered a decision affirming the decision of the board of examiners in chief in the patent office awarding priority of invention to Fowler in the interference of Joseph C. Fowler versus Philip T. Dodge, president of the Mergenthaler Linotype company. The commissioner also decided that the specification and drawings in Mr. Dodge's application were defective and insufficient. The Fowler machine is an improvement on the Mergenthaler Linotype machine.

Can Use the Boats.

Washington, March 18. — Captain Pitch, the engineer in charge of the river and harbor works on the Mississippi at Memphis, has informed the war department that applications have been made to him for the loan of government boats and property to assist in the relief and rescue of the sufferers from the flood. Colonel Mackenzie has informed Captain Pitch that he might so use the government property.

Place for Joseph Smith.

Washington, March 18. — Secretary Sherman has called for the resignation of Clinton Farkish as director of the bureau of American republics, and the place is to be filled by the appointment of Joseph Smith if Ohio, formerly state librarian. Mr. Farkish will tender his resignation, but the conditions under which the change is made have given rise to much talk in the diplomatic corps, and some intimations of a possible protest.

More Ohio Applicants.

Washington, March 18. — The applications from Ohio for appointment filed at the treasury department were: George Foster Cleveland, collector of customs at Cleveland, and S. C. Wheeler, Sandusky, collector of customs at Sandusky.

Wealthy Lady Suicides.

Chicago, March 18. — After careful preparations to conceal her identity, the daughter of Gustave Strassinger, a wealthy resident of Webster Grove, a suburb of St. Louis, committed suicide by shooting herself in the head at her boarding house, 39 Chicago avenue. Her trunk and other belongings had been shipped to St. Louis and only a few torn scraps of wrapping paper from Missouri business houses were left in the room.

Shot His Wife.

North Manchester, Ind., March 18. — At Servia, just south of here, John Hall, 50, shot his wife through the neck, and walking away a few steps turned the revolver on himself and inflicted a wound in his head from which he died. Mrs. Hall may recover. The couple had lived apart for some time and Hall committed the crime because she would not return to him.

Postmaster Hesing Resigns.

Chicago, March 18. — Postmaster Washington Hesing has rendered his resignation to the president. His resignation was accompanied by that of Frederick F. Stoll, superintendent of the city delivery, who gave as his reason his intention to re-enter business. It is said, however, that he will at once take charge of Mr. Hesing's naturally campaign.

An Ohio Tourist Killed.

Youngstown, O., March 18. — John Orient, a tourist, who with John Connelley of Pittsburg was tramping the country through here to Cleveland, in attempting to board a train in the Erie yards was hurled into the ditch. When the trainmen reached him life was extinct. Orient has a family in Cleveland.

ENGINES COLLIDED.

other men escaped injury. The Wabash engine was knocked clear out of its frame and both engines were overturned and considerably damaged. The first car of the express train was slightly damaged.

Traffic on both roads was delayed several hours. East-bound passenger train 12, of the C. & E., due here at 2:46 o'clock this morning, did not arrive until 5:45 o'clock.

CHANGES ON THE PENNSY.

The Toledo Blade is authority for the statement as to who will succeed Chas. L. Cole, as general freight agent of the northwestern system of the Penna. The paper says: Division Freight Agent Orr, at Pittsburg, will be Mr. Cole's successor. Division freight agent Perkins is slated for the same office at Pittsburg. In the line of promotion, J. B. Hill, the general western agent for the Pennsylvania railroad, will be made general freight agent of the Panhandle at Columbus, and the assistant general Western freight agent, Chas. W. Randall, of Chicago, will become general Western agent. This leaves Cleveland unprovided for, but what of it?

C. E. NEWBERRY'S TROUBLE.

The original indictment found at Toledo against ex-C. & E. yardmaster Charles Newberry, charging him with aiding a prisoner to escape from the Lucas county jail, was nolleed Monday by prosecutor Charles Sumner. It will be remembered that both Newberry and Mutchler were given a re-hearing before the grand jury for re-indictment on the ground that the first indictment was not rendered in accordance with the state laws of Ohio. Newberry has entered a plea of not guilty to the recent indictment, and was given his liberty on $500 bail bond.

NOTES.

The L. E. & W. employes received checks for their February salaries yesterday afternoon.

The greatest railroad loop in the world is in the Pittsburg district. It is an irregular ellipse in shape, about 37 miles in length, and carries a larger freight and passenger traffic than any other hundred miles of railway track on earth. The great loop is formed by the Pennsylvania main line and P. V. & C. divisions, the Panhandle and Ohio connecting roads, and the Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railway. Around this loop or over certain sections of it, 330 passenger trains and over 200 freight trains are run daily, making a total of 530 trains.

A Week of Music.

The week commencing March 20th will be one of the greatest musical events in the history of Cincinnati. The Metropolitan Opera Company of 50 members, accompanied by the Theodore Thomas Orchestra of 100 pieces, will be the leading attraction at the Music Hall, while the lovers of comic opera will be entertained at the Grand Opera House by the Fran- Wilson Opera Company. The Grand Opera at the Music Hall, as well as the comic opera at the Grand Opera House, and the other vaudeville and standard attractions at the other theaters, will be given at popular prices, enabling the people for an investment of a very few dollars to enjoy grand opera, rendered by the same people for whom New Yorkers paid as high as $50 a seat in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York City.

Recognizing the importance of this occasion and the desire of the people to see these great entertainments, which only occur once in a great many years, the C. H. & D. Railway will put in a very low rate from all important stations tributary to Cincinnati, and will make special arrangements on reasonable terms for private cars or special schedules.

If you are thinking of attending the opera with a party call on the C. H. & D. Railway agent and let him make your arrangements.

WHEELER'S LEGACY.

Nerve Affected Humanity Are His Beneficiaries. They are Cured by

Dr. WHEELER'S NERVE VITALIZER

The development of electric power is now making the world. An era of progress is being ushered in. The human mind is being developed. The human body is being strengthened. The human soul is being purified. The human spirit is being elevated. The human heart is being purified. The human mind is being developed. The human body is being strengthened. The human soul is being purified. The human spirit is being elevated. The human heart is being purified.

Many of us have had failed in the same way. But with the knowledge of our experience he was able to carry his story to a successful end and produce Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer, which is today the panacea in the treatment of nervous diseases. Evidence of the fact is recorded in every city, village and hamlet in the country. A recent case is that of Mrs. R. D. Fisher, Arlington, Ohio, who makes the following statement which is endorsed by N. D. Stigm, of same place:

"I was sick for years with nervous prostration of the most aggravated form. Money was not spent in seeking a cure, but with discouraging result. It was my good fortune to hear of Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer, which I commenced taking at once, and from the use of three bottles I was restored to health."

It is a specific for sick nerves.

FROM CRIPPLE CREEK

After the big fire in Cripple Creek I took a very severe cold and tried many remedies without help. The cold only becoming more settled. After using three small bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, both the cough and cold left me, and in this high altitude it takes a meritorious cough remedy to do any good.—G. R. Henderson, editor Daily Advertiser. For sale by Melville, the Druggist, old postoffice corner, C. W. Webster, 58 Public Square.

CHORAL MEETING

The attendance at the Choral meeting last night was somewhat better than usual. The Choral intends to give a grand concert soon, and all members are therefore urged to be present at its meetings.

DANGERS OF THE GRIP

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for La Grippe, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dread disease. It will effect a permanent cure in less time than any other treatment. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Melville, the Druggist, old postoffice corner; C. W. Webster, 58 Public Square.

LARGEST SPECTROSCOPE IN THE WORLD

The largest spectroscope in the world has been completed by Professor John A. Bache, the famous astronomer of Allegheny, Pa., on the Allegheny River. The instrument will be used to study the composition of the stars and the planets. It is the largest instrument of the kind ever constructed. It is the largest instrument of the kind ever constructed. It is the largest instrument of the kind ever constructed.

ELECTRIC BITTERS

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness, yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at H. F. Vorkamp's Drug Store, north-east corner Main and North streets.

HAVE YOU HAD THE GRIP?

If you have, you probably need a reliable medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar to heal your lungs and stop the racking cough incidental to this disease. H. F. Vorkamp, u. c. cor. Main and North sts.

CURTIS LONES.

Justice Atmur Decides the Damage Suit in Favor of the City.

This morning Justice Atmur handed down his decision in the damage suit of Guy Curtis against the city of Lima. His decision, no cause of action, being in favor of the defendant.

Curtis sued for $65 damages for the loss of a horse which was driven into an open sewer trench on west Spring street one night several weeks ago.

MARVELOUS RESULTS.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia, succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as though she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at H. F. Vorkamp's Drug Store, northeast corner Main and North streets. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Cairo is full of preachers and other visitors, who are attending the Christian quarterly conference that convened on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30. They will be in session a couple of days.

It is an old saying that when you see a person and don't know them that they are going to get married. It is not known whether this is true with Al Shick or not. But since he has shaved off his mustache quite a number have been inquiring who he is.

The little son of Wm. Mort died Saturday morning of spinal disease. The funeral services were held at the Christian church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Just a month ago death entered the house and took from them the mother. The father and the elder of the two little sons are left to mourn their loss.

Grandmother Wood, who has been ailing for the last year or so with dropsy, died Sunday morning. She was well known and loved by all who knew her as a kind and loving friend. She was born at Williamsport, Maryland, in 1827. In 1848 she was married to Mr. Trice. He died in '52 and then she moved to Allen county in '53 and remained here. She was married to Albert Wood about 37 years ago. Mr. Wood died several years ago and has always been a devoted Christian and church worker. The funeral services were held at the M. E. church Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. Lobaugh, of Dupont, Ohio.

ELECTRIC BITTERS.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness, yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at H. F. Vorkamp's Drug Store, north-east corner Main and North streets.

HAVE YOU HAD THE GRIP?

If you have, you probably need a reliable medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar to heal your lungs and stop the racking cough incidental to this disease. H. F. Vorkamp, u. c. cor. Main and North sts.

1891. The reduction of revenue has been small compared with the increase of expenditures, and yet the president has not a word to say in behalf of economy, but urges "ample revenues," not only for "ordinary expenses," but for "liberal pensions," and other purposes.

Nor can the omission of all reference to the currency or the evasion of the well established connection of the recent loans with the maintenance of the gold reserve be regarded as candid or statesmanlike. The treatment of these loans, as though made merely for current expenses, might serve the purposes of the Bryan campaign, but it is unworthy of a president's message.

The fact that the largest annual deficit occurred in 1894, when there had been no change in the revenue laws, should have been sufficient to suggest that there were other causes at work. In this year, the president says, "notwithstanding there was a decrease of $16,789,128.78 in the ordinary expenses of the government, as compared with the previous fiscal year, its income was still not sufficient." He neglects to say that the expenses of the previous fiscal year were forty-four millions greater than those of the year preceding. Nor does he think it worth while to remark that since 1893 the revenues have largely and constantly increased. To call attention to that would compel the acknowledgment that the condition he deplors was brought about first by the currency legislation in 1890 and the resulting panic, and secondly by the extravagant appropriations piled up, against the protest of the executive.

The special message will be read as an invitation to congress to continue in this path of extravagance. That is probably not Mr. McKinley's intention, but he has missed the opportunity to emphasize the need of economy, and congress, with a part of its billion dollar appropriations thrown back on it by President Cleveland's passive veto, will be only too ready to take advantage of the omission and plunge into a fresh debauch, trusting to the dubious resources of the Dingley tariff to provide the means.

NEW IDEAS IN FARMING.

Secretary Wilson, the new head of the Federal Agricultural Department, in replying to anxious inquiries from members of congress, has told them that they will get their seeds as usual; but he adds that it will be under a different system, which he hopes will develop new resources and bring about a greater diversification of agricultural products. Any innovation which promises such results must command the attention of the country, which will, therefore, be interested in knowing some details of the new plan. According to Mr. Wilson's observation the people of the world are now demanding nitrogenous foods, and are not requiring such quantities of the class of food obtained from the fat-producing grains, which have sent American land all over the world, but for which the demand has of late somewhat fallen off. Accordingly, leguminous plants, which are deep-rooted and rich in nitrogen; Japanese beans, field peas and pod-bearing plants generally will be largely distributed among the farmers this year in place of seeds which they have hitherto received.

Experiments at the Iowa agricultural stations have shown Mr. Wilson that by a combination of these deep-rooted plants it is practicable to furnish a succession of crops which shall give from the opening of the season until snow falls a constant supply of nitrogenous food for animals, which add very greatly to their value as food. Mr. Wilson is also of the opinion that corn, which in his own state brings not over 10 to 15 cents a bushel, is worth several times that amount if properly fed; and he is already planning experiments with reference to the utilization of corn and other farm products for feeding sheep.

For the benefit of farmers who may be inclined to smile derisively at the idea of a cabinet officer attempting to teach them their business, it should be explained that Mr. Wilson is himself a practical farmer, as well as an earnest devotee of agricultural science; and he is not a theorist, except in so far as his theories would seem to follow logically from the data which he has gleaned from actual experiment and research. For these reasons his ideas deserve general application, to the end that the results may afford a basis for intelligent action hereafter. Fundamentally the principle of seed distribution by the Federal Government is all wrong; but since all parties are agreed that the abuse is too fascinating to be done away with, it is desirable that the country shall get as much real good out of it as possible. And if Secretary Wilson can measurably achieve either of the purposes which he has in view he will go far toward persuading the people, even against their better judgment, that paternalism in the matter of seeds is in their interest.—Phila. Record

KICKED BY A HORSE.

Seven Year-Old Charlie Robinson Died this Morning

From Brain Fever, Resulting from a Injury Sustained Three Years Ago—Funeral To-morrow.

Master Charles Robinson, the seven-year-old son of John Robinson, of west Elm street, Clifton addition, died at 9 o'clock this morning.

Three years ago the child was kicked by a horse and the injury resulted in an attack of brain fever, which resulted in death this morning.

The funeral services will be conducted from the residence at 10 a. m. to-morrow. Rev. Miller will conduct the services and the remains will be interred in the old cemetery.

PROGRESSIVE PEDRO.

A Number of Friends Entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Perry Edson.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Edson, of north Union street, delightfully entertained a number of friends last evening at progressive Pedro. Five tables were occupied and fourteen games were played. Mr. Charles Adgate's skill succeeded in winning the first prize. The booby prize was won by Mr. Beecher Moke.

After the series had been played, an excellent lunch was served.

A POOR OPERATOR

Sent the Fight Bulletins to Lima and Omitted the Last Three Rounds.

The Cleveland telegraph operator who sent the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight bulletins to Lima yesterday afternoon was a most unsatisfactory man to work with at the instrument. He got behind in his work and stopped abruptly in the transmission of the eleventh round and announced that Fitz was the victor in that round. His message was so received at the Elk and at this office, and in consequence the last three rounds of the mill were necessarily omitted. However, the TIMES-DEMOCRAT furnished its readers with a good account of the fight and the fact of its result, within two hours of its termination, and fourteen hours ahead of the puny morning paper's boiler-plate report.

HAD TO SHOOT IT.

A Horse Driven by Samuel Wollett Stumbles and Breaks Its Leg.

Sam Wollett, a farmer living north of the city, lost a horse this noon on north Main street. Mr. Wollett was driving a team of sorrel horses when one of them stumbled and fell. The beast was unable to get up and it was believed it was sick. Dr. Blattenberg was called. Upon examination, its left front leg was found to have been broken in the shoulder. Nothing could be done for the suffering animal and it was shot. Mr. Wollett said the horse, last Friday, sprained its leg, but at the time it was not thought to have been serious. It is believed now that the bone was cracked, and when the horse stumbled, the bone was broken off.

OIL AND GAS

A CORNER AT FOWLING GREEN.

A dispatch from Fowling Green says:

This community has been considerably stirred up during the past twenty-four hours by the striking of the largest well now in existence in the Trenton rock region. From 10 p. m. yesterday until 7 o'clock this morning it put out barrels into the pipeline and continued pumping at the rate of one every three hours up to last report therefrom. The well is owned by Millard & Quigley, of Bowling Green, and is located on the St. Johns farm, in section 10, Plain township, two and one-half miles southwest of town.

A large number of citizens and people residing in the vicinity of the well paid it a visit to day. The well is pumping salt water and flowing its oil through the casing. It is situated in the midst of a number of dry holes which were drilled several years ago. It opens nothing new, but serves further to demonstrate the peculiar, as well as profitable nature of Wood county territory.

A W. BARNES SON DEAD

The old trade will deeply sympathize with Mr. G. W. Barnes and family in the death of a son 17, which occurred in Florida last week. The remains arrived in Toledo Tuesday morning.

IN ACADEMY COUNTY

The Jackson Oil Company's well, No. 1, on the G. H. Kaiser farm, in section 21, Jackson township, Augusta county, started at 90 barrels. This new field has proved more profitable than was at first expected.

The Ohio & Northern Oil Company's well No. 1 on the Jas. Summers farm, in section 10, same township, is a gasser.

If the system is fortified by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which makes rich, red blood, there is little danger of sickness.

HE SETTLED

After Sergeant Watts Caught Him at the Depot.

W. C. Bettis Tried to Get Out of Town and Leave an Unpaid Board Bill at the Faurot House.

Shortly after 7 o'clock this morning the day clerk of the Faurot house called at the police station and requested the arrest of W. C. Bettis, a stranger who had been at the Faurot house for the past week.

The hotel people state that Bettis, when he first arrived here, went to the Faurot and made arrangements to secure a special rate for a week's board for three men, but the other two men went to the Burnet House, and when Bettis went to settle his bill this morning he wanted to pay at the special low rate agreed upon for three men. The clerk refused to make a settlement at this rate whereupon Bettis left the hotel, leaving his valise, which was found to contain some papers.

Sergeant Watts found the man at the Ohio Southern depot and took him to the police station, where he settled in full for his board and was released.

AN ATTRACTIVE WINDOW.

A Window Full of the Popular Spring Medicine.

The Most Conspicuous Window in the City and an Exhibit of the Best Medicine on Earth.

The big show window on the north side of Melville's popular drug store at Main and High streets is the center of attraction for the hundreds and thousands of pedestrians that pass that corner daily. The window is the most conspicuous one in the city, being unusually large and deep, and located at the most prominent corner in the business portion of the city. Everybody passes it going to and from the city building, and no one fails to notice the display Mr. Melville has had carefully arranged within.

At this time of the year when almost every person feels the need of a tonic to tone up the system with the arrival of spring, Mr. Melville, who is always up to date, knows just what they want. Paine's Celery Compound is the popular spring medicine, it is the medicine the people want and it is what Mr. Melville has devoted the big window to. No need of looking all over the city for a suitable prescription or a bottle of Dr. Quack's patent rain water elixir, when the popular medicine and proper medicine is displayed so conspicuously as Paine's Celery Compound is displayed at Melville's.

LAST SAD RITES

Over the Remains of Mrs. J. E. Purcell—Interment this Morning.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. John E. Purcell were held this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Rose church. High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Manning, who also conducted the burial service and in previous funeral service. At the conclusion of the service the casket was removed to the vestibule of the church where it was opened and the body, which lay enshrouded in a bed of beautiful flowers was viewed for the last time by her many friends and relatives, after which the large cortege wound its way to Gethsemane cemetery, where the body was consigned to mother earth.

The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful, and many friends and relatives were present from out the city.

INTO THE DITCH

Went George Hadsell When His Horse Shied at the Donkey.

When Pitcher Woodward the man who is payment of an election bet is riding upon a donkey's back from his home in New York across the continent to San Francisco, came from Kenton to Lima, he took the road which led him through the village of Ada and brought him to Lima over the Lafayette pike.

Woodward is a tall angular man and his head was adorned with an antediluvian plug hat, which might have seen service on the Mayflower. He goes across the country astride a small specimen of a donkey which is barely tall enough to keep the man's feet from trailing along on the ground. To add to the grotesqueness of the make up the donkey is decorated with a huge pair of leather spectacles.

As this outfit was quietly ambling along the pike yesterday it met a horse and buggy driven by George M. Hadsell. The unwonted apparition so frightened the Hadsell horse that it became unmanageable, upset the buggy and threw the driver to the ground, bruising him up badly, but not breaking any bones. The buggy was badly wrecked. A number of other horses met along the road were badly frightened, but no others ran away.

IN THE POTATO FIELD.

Level Culture is Now Practiced by Leading Potato Growers.

The family method of hilling potatoes still common with some growers is the occasion of an illustrated description of the two methods, hill and level culture, by Elias A. Long, in American Gardening. In his sketch the upper part represents the plants of a potato patch in their relation to the contour of the ground just after hilling up. Mr. Long writes:

It is this hilling up process to which I most decidedly object, because the disadvantages greatly outnumber the advantages thereof. First, there is the labor. The dotted line, A, is supposed to show the natural level, the hilling up involved raising the soil from below this line and heaping it around the plant above the ordinary level, no little job. Second, potatoes raised suffer more from drought than is the case in flat culture. First the superficial area of surface exposed to evaporation is greatly increased. In order to realize this it is only necessary to compare the length of the dotted line, A, with that of the contour line, B, and yet, while the surface thus exposed to evaporation is greatly increased, quite an item with us here in the midst of very dry times, such increase does not count for anything in case of rain, for of course no more rain falls in a half an hour than on the same level. Then in case of a heavy, quick shower the tendency would be for the hills to shed the rain that falls over the roots into the bottom of the furrow to one side, where it would do less good.

In the case of the potato patch here referred to in the hilling process, the soil between the hills, the surface in the bottom of the furrows as left by the hoe is hard and smooth. It differs widely from the space between hills of the level system, which I strongly recommend. Here the cultivation consists in keeping the surface between the plants loose and free to a depth of two or three inches. This is done by passing over the surface in small patches with the hoe; in larger ones, with horse cultivator or scarifier. What the difference in the drought resisting properties of a hard, smooth surface and a loose, open surface, respectively, comes in, is a lesson which every gardener should well heed.

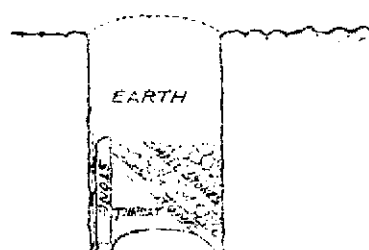

In potato culture the soil should be managed for conserving a maximum amount of moisture to the plants during the growing season. How to do this is to preserve the most natural course of culture indicated by the lower engraving. Then, by less labor, we retain a minimum area of surface from which to allow moisture to evaporate, and instead of a hard space between the plants, which rapidly loses its dampness, we have a well tilted surface, in which moisture in maximum amount is retained to the plants even in dry weather. The hilling process is unnatural in another respect. By forcing the soil against the plants three or four inches above the surface more or less of the leaves are buried, with loss to the plant.

Bordeaux Mixture and Fungicide.

H. P. Gould of the Maine station reports on experiments with bordeaux mixture and fungicide for the prevention of potato rot. The use of bordeaux mixture as a preventive gave the most satisfactory results. Fungicide is a fungicide which, it is claimed, is a powdered form of bordeaux mixture. The total yield was less, and a greater percentage of rotten tubers were present where fungicide was used than where bordeaux mixture was employed, although fungicide gave better results than where no application of fungicide was made.

Making a Drain.

With the determination to drain an unsightly low spot it was plowed, leaving a heavy, dead furrow where the drain should be and a board or plank trodden down in the center of the furrow. "As this point," writes a Rural New Yorker correspondent, "we increased the usefulness of our potato crates, which were filled with small stones and placed as sentinels along the dead furrow, when all was ready to go into winter quarters. We had an unsu-

HOW TO MAKE A DRAIN.

not a month ago, and in December, it froze very hard. I shouldered my pick and shovel, turned for the wet spot, now frozen dry, but with no frost under the boards. The bottom of the ditch was left high in the center, stood up with the stones for a throat and the small ones from the crates on top. (See next page.)

As first things went down to the earth were replaced to prevent freezing. There is nothing more important than covering a stone drain with plenty of earth before a rain falls with a wind and south. I would not give much for a ditch tilted to the surface with stones.

PEAS AND OATS.

Best Methods of Sowing These Together, Harvesting, Etc.

C. H. Everett, who has been conducting farmers' institutes in Maine and Shubenubet counties, Wis., where peas are grown by the earliest writers as follows: Prairie Farmer.

Growing peas is a great industry in these counties, and peas are cheap. Some of the farmers use a drill for sowing, putting them down three to four inches deep. Others sow them under. This latter method I have employed with excellent success. I like to first go over the ground with a disk harrow or some tool that will rough up the surface soil to keep the peas from rolling into one side of the furrow when being turned under. This surface working also turns the soil so that when turned over the peas do not lie among lumps. After the plowing is done I sow on the oats and harrow them in. In the counties above mentioned oats are not sown, as peas are produced for the market almost wholly, yet some of the farmers have come to know of their exceedingly high feeding value, and as they are cheap at present many are being fed, which no doubt will lead to much greater use of them as feed in that locality in the future.

The object of the oats is to hold up the pea vines, and when produced for feed the two grains mixed and ground are hard to exceed as cow and pig feed. I sow, when intended for grain, one bushel of peas and two of oats. If for hay, I would sow 1½ bushels of each. The less peas sown the better will the crop stand up. This is of much importance in harvesting for the grain, but if cut for hay it is of not so much importance that the crop stand up well. The crop should be grown on the poorest land on the farm. If grown on very rich land, the growth of vines will be very heavy, and it is much more liable to lodge. Then again if the vine is very rank it is very apt to be at the expense of the pod.

Peas are valuable as food because of their protein nature, being very rich in muscle and milk making elements. When offered is worth $25 a ton, pea-meal is worth $18. It is always desirable to produce as much of protein on the farm as possible. All animals must have food rich in protein, and as an economical ration must contain some protein it becomes a question of business as to where we shall obtain cheap protein food. Clover hay and pea-meal are money makers for me, and for any one who is fortunate enough to have them these feeds produced upon one's own farm is economy. When oats and peas are sown for hay, I find it a good crop with which to seed to clover. The crop comes off early for hay, giving the young clover a chance to grow and thrive. Peas enrich the soil in the same way that clover does, but not to so great an extent.

Experience in Subsoiling.

All farmers can subsoil, while comparatively few can irrigate. The majority will perhaps then be interested in the following remarks made by a Kansas Farmer correspondent: All land except that with a sandy or gravelly subsoil will pay to subsoil. Subsoiling, as practiced and understood at the present, does not consist in turning the subsoil up on the surface, but simply breaking up and loosening the subsoil as deep as possible, and the deeper the better, so that the water will readily pass from the surface to this loose subsoil that acts as a reservoir, retaining the water for the future use of the plants on the surface above. With the subsoil thoroughly loosened 16 to 20 inches deep the heaviest rainfall we ordinarily have, now will run off or remain on the surface very long after the rain is over, but will, as above stated, be held for the use of the plants on the surface.

A Garden Marker.

T. Greiner thinks that a marker made as suggested by the accompanying illustration from Farm and Fireside will be found to be the ideal marker.

It has tracer wheels something on the principle of a dressmaker's tracer wheel. The marker disk (and there may be as many as you desire—say, three or four—and at any desired distance apart) is a simple disk of wood or iron, with pointed rim. These will roll over the ground very easily and make a good mark in loose ground.

Odd Mention.

Prof. Geo. Henry of the Wisconsin station advises for lowland meadow a mixture somewhat as follows: Timothy, fowl meadow and redtop, each four quarts, and alfalfa clover, two quarts.

C. G. George-on is credited with saying that alfalfa can be grown successfully in northern Illinois provided a suitable soil is selected, slow in July or beginning of August.

Iowa Homestead claims that alfalfa is growing in favor in sections farther east than the arid and semiarid regions, where it is so largely relied upon for forage.

The old fashioned wood spool for drawing maple sap from trees has been largely displaced by tin, metal and galvanized iron, all of which have their adherents.

The annual value of manure made on Missouri farms is estimated at $150,000,000, fully one half of which is wasted.

From the Iowa station comes a good word for the one known as Early Champion.

OUTWITTING THEM.

How a Sharp Railroad Man Got the Better of a Lot of Competitors.

He was a large and rotund railroad man, whom the fellows called Sam and whom they seemed to like to listen to as he sat back smoking a cigar and telling stories after the work for into the night was done.

"One of the victories of my life," he said, after narrating several incidents which were not so altogether victorious, "took place when I was with the L. and N., with my headquarters at Cincinnati. It so fell out once upon a time that 125 people wanted to make an excursion into the west via Cincinnati and St. Louis from Berea, in Madison county, Ky. As I remember, it meant about $25 a head to the railroad getting the party, and the competition among the boys was lively enough. I tell you, negotiations had been going on vigorously for some time, and on a certain day the excursionists were to be at the Berea station, and all the railroad men were to meet them there.

"We came down from Cincinnati on a special train, and I was studying up every possible plan how I was going to get that business for my road, but no way appeared until we were within a dozen miles of Berea. There it came to me, and I slipped around and had a little talk with the engineer, who was quite willing to help me out by letting his engine drop a cog or do some other peculiar and unexpected thing, as locomotives have a way of doing. This he did about six miles out and near a siding, where the engineer pulled in and proceeded to repair the damage, the men, who were in a hurry to get to Berea, putting in their time cussing the engine, the road and me.

"As for myself, when I had fixed it with the engineer, I dropped off the train as it was leaving the station, and the men on board didn't more than discover that I had disappeared until the accident happened that delayed them two hours or more on that siding. In the meantime I wired my agent at Berea—you see, this all took place on my own line of road, so it was a good deal easier—to make a rate to the excursionists $2.50 lower than any figure yet given them, and let them have half an hour to decide in, or the whole rate would go up to the regular price. Of course the excursionists didn't know that I had the agents cabled on a siding. They didn't know anything except that it was the lowest offer they had received, and after chewing awhile on it my man wired me that my offer was accepted.

"What would be the result when they found out about the other agents and what kind of crazy offers those fellows might make to beat me out of the business unless I had some kind of a clincher. I didn't know, so I sent word to my agent to collect $100 on each ticket, or the rate would go up to regular. This was easy enough, for they knew they had a good thing, and the money came in with a rush. Then my man telegraphed that he had collected over $1,200 and had it locked up in the safe, and he would like to know what to do next. I wired back the short word 'Escape,' and half an hour later my engineer, having repaired the break to his machinery, pulled into the station at Berea with his profane load of railroad men.

"What happened then I fancy I'll had been there I would have been lynched, but they got over it after a time, and they went back to Cincinnati with no other feeling against me except an unalterable determination to get even at the first opportunity. Of course I had to pay for a supper for the crowd and a few little things like that, but those didn't count."—Washington Star.

Shelby and the Negro.

The late Confederate General Shelby stood up for the rights of the negro on one occasion in a way that entitles him to high praise. When he was appointed a United States marshal, he selected Lee Jackson, a negro, as one of his deputies. He was severely criticised for this by some southern papers, but he refused to weaken and justified his act in the following reply: "The young man is competent to render effective service in lines where white men cannot do as well, perhaps, as he will do. I appointed him for efficiency and have no patience with that sentiment that gropes always among the tombstones instead of coming out into the bright light of existing life and conditions. The negro was always faithful to his people when a slave. He has been no less faithful to his friends since he has become a freeman. His is becoming useful in ways never dreamed of before the war, and it is unmanly to deny him the right to do for himself everything that will improve and better his condition. I trust that this is the last I shall have to say in defense of my choice of him. I am right in what I have done, and for the right I propose to stand."—New York Tribune.

Mayor Baxter, of Delphos, was in the city to-day.

Ex-Commissioner Amstutz, of Bluffton, is in the city to-day.

George Thrift left this noon on a business trip for Rome, N. Y.

W. D. Johnston left last night for St. Louis, Mich., to receive treatment for rheumatism.

John F. Lindemann and D. E.
Baxter, of Delphos, were in the city to-day attending court.

Mrs. R. W. Wallace, who has been visiting in the city for the past week, leaves for Columbus this afternoon.

J. W. Burns, of the Burnet House, returned from Dayton last evening,
where he had been visiting friends.

Mrs. Sullivan, wife of J. J. Sulli-

Latham & Murray have begun work on the excavation for the new Holland block.

Mrs. E. Deikel, of west Wayne street, is able to be around again after an illness of three weeks.

The Delphos Herald issued its yesterday's edition on green paper in commemoration of St. Patrick's day.

Born—yesterday, to Mr. and Mrs.
H. A. Singleton, of north Elizabeth street, an eight and a half pound son.

George Kanawli is confined to his home on account of an affliction of the eyes, which were operated this morning by Dr. Steuber.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the coming cake walk.
Several parties have arranged to attend the interesting event.

Mrs. Mary C. Kinie, of Hume, has intered suit for divorce against her husband, George H. Kinie, who is at present making his home at Delphos.

The funeral services of Mrs. Wm.
H. Baker, who died Tuesday evening from a cancer, will be held from the residence, 228 west Vine street, at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

A change in the management of the Hoffman House has been made, Harry Hopkins having sold his interest to Mr. Akers. Mr. Hopkins expects to locate in Dayton.

A cycle show is to be given in this city about the first or second week in April. The show given by W. S.
Weaver last spring was a decided success, and this one, the second annual, will in all probability surpass it.

W. G. Knoop was the recipient of a St. Patrick's day present that will be a joy to him for years to come. A son and heir weighing ten pounds came into their household yesterday, over which event the proud father rejoices and is exceedingly glad.

Evertson & Co., of Danville, Ill., have this day purchased the Avery shoe stock from P. A. Kahle, the assignee, at about forty cents on the dollar, and will at once throw it upon the market. This will be welcome news to our people who are hunting bargains.

The publishers of the Morning Star are unhappy because last evening's Times-Democrat published the results of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons mill 30 minutes after it was finished, while our sleepy neighbors were 18 hours getting the boiler plate report before their few readers, by which time the matter had become ancient history. The city of Lima is growing too fast for the Star, for it cannot keep up with the swiftly moving progression. The kindly advice is offered them that they go to Cridersville, where they can more successfully put out ancient history as news.

BUT FEW VOTES AGAINST IT

Cast at To-day's Election—People are Still Voting, and Generally Vote "Yes"—
Good Vote Being Pulled.

The special election on the bond issue subject being held to-day has brought out a fairly good vote. The polls were opened at 5:30 this morning and will close at 5:30 this evening, in that regard being the same as at a general election. Another point of similarity is that the saloons of the city were all closed to-day.

There has been a steady vote polled during the entire day, and almost all the votes cast have been in favor of the proposition. Some few opposed the measure and voted against it, but there was no work against it done openly at the polls.

There was but one voting place in each ward, and the vote cast up to 2 o'clock this afternoon at the different polling places is as follows:

First ward, 415; Second ward, 193;
Third ward, 363; Fourth ward, 481;
Fifth ward, 237; Sixth ward, 427;
Seventh ward, 385.

The vote cast up to 2 o'clock p. m.
at the last election in the various wards of the city was as follows:
First ward, 584; Second ward, 340;
Third ward, 698; Fourth ward, 960;
Fifth ward, 475; Sixth ward, 676;
Seventh ward, 648.

The total vote in these wards polled at the last November election was as follows: First ward, 714; Second ward, 403; Third ward, 782; Fourth ward, 1196; Fifth ward, 569; Sixth ward, 745; Seventh ward, 739.

As the L. E. & W. shops were shut down this afternoon to permit their men to vote, and as the O. H. & D.
men were let off at 3 o'clock in order that all might have sufficient time to vote, it is fair to presume that there will be a great many votes polled between the hour of 2 o'clock, when the above result was taken,
and 5:30, when the polls will close.
But whatever may be the number of votes polled, there is no possible doubt that the proposition will carry by the most overwhelming majority.

A wreck in which an engine was last evening at the crossing of the C. & E. and Wabash railroads at Newton, Ind. An engine on

For several days the interlocking system at the crossing has been out of order and trains have been controlled at that point by signals, which at night were given by a watchman with a red lantern. Last night engine 229, of the C. & E., was pulling the express train and was in charge of engineer Joseph Grass.
Upon arriving at the Wabash cross-

Well Trained.

The pupils of the St. Rose School gave their annual entertainment last evening in the Faure opera house.
The two-part programme was lengthy, but nevertheless was enjoyed to the end by a large and appreciative audience. Every seat in the house was sold, and many persons were compelled to be satisfied with standing room.

The event was given in honor of St. Patrick, Ireland's honored saint.
The musical part of the programme was especially interesting, and was highly appreciated by those present.

The recitations and readings were well rendered and elicited much applause. The Cecilian Choir, Cecilian Club and the orchestra gave some delightful music. Every number of the programme was attentively listened to and heartily applauded.

The exercises which were given last evening did credit and honor to all the pupils who participated in them, and was evidence that they had earnest and capable instructors, and had been carefully trained and instructed.

The teachers, in preparing the pupils for the entertainment, did not allow their regular school work to be interfered with.

It was a late hour when the last number of the programme was ended, yet the evening seemed to have passed very rapidly.

The programme as given was as
